1,745,000€

We have the pleasure marketing this unique country house which is set facing the stunning fresh lake of La Pedera. The views from the living areas bedrooms and terraces are outstanding! The beautiful tranquil turquoise colours of the lake to the countryside surroundings are breathtaking. The array of citrus trees, wild flowers and herbs, olive and almond trees stretch across the plains of Torremendo. The property has beautiful stories about its development of what it is has become today. From the interesting antique furniture to the decorative solid wooden doors this property seeps in Directly next to la Pedrera reservoir, the property is surrounded by orange trees. Large open spaces, and warm and cosy rooms in which spend great moments at any time of the day with family or friends. The Oasis wakes up caressed by the sunshine with the visit of the partridges, rabbits, hermits and turtledoves who walk inside the fenced property. When the season comes, the orange blossom delights the senses. The Pedrera area is considered as a wet land protected area, that is why it will never be invaded by any kind of urbanistic projects. The strength and the colors of the sunsets are captivating and...
